Welcome to New Staff!

Madeline Knight-Dixon is the newest Reference Librarian at the Birnbaum Library. She received her MLS from Queens College in May of 2017. In addition to working at the Birnbaum Library, she also works in the Access Services department at Baruch College. An Illinois native, Madeline is an eclectic and voracious reader, loves to travel, and will take advantage of any opportunity to see a Broadway show.

In October 2017 Jodie Staton joined the Mortola Library as a part-time Reference Librarian on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. She has worked in corporate libraries for over 20 years and received her MLIS from Long Island University Palmer School of Library Science in 2005. Jodie has held part-time reference positions at the Cochran School of Nursing at St. Johns Riverside Hospital and at Robert S. Young Business Library of Western Connecticut State University. She has had a passion for academic libraries since she was a student worker in the college library during her undergraduate days.

Brian Moses is the new Resources Sharing Assistant (ILL) for Birnbaum Library. Prior to joining the library, Brian worked for Pace's Office of Disability Services as an exam proctor for 2 years. During this time he also maintained a side-business as a freelance Japanese translator, focusing on consumer reports. A lover of vintage oddities, he can be found many a weekend nose-deep in one of the city's thrift stores, trying to unearth something interesting.
